

Business Consulting + Executive Coaching

Jenny Reilly Consulting (JRC) is a leadership and development consultancy that works with businesses, leaders, and teams to improve their ability to drive business performance and increase productivity. Based in Vancouver, Canada, we work with clients globally to equip them to become better leaders and achieve their professional and personal best.

2020 was a professional and personal test for many. Working and living through a global pandemic, lockdowns, and the economy in deep contraction truly tested our ability to adapt and be resilient. Competition is fierce, resources are stretched, and new business challenges have to be addressed daily.

Are you interested in:

- Business Growth and Performance Optimization
- Being a Better Leader
- Leading a more Integrated and Balanced Professional and Personal Life
- Moving from feeling 'stuck,' 'exhausted' or 'plateaued' to being Focused, Productive and Mindful.

JRC can help you:

- Accelerate your business growth and optimize performance
- Address complex issues to propel your business forward
- Develop your leadership capabilities to address challenges and opportunities with confidence
- Focus on critical business decisions for long-term, sustainable success
- Identify marketing and sales activities to increase your brand presence and visibility
- Implement practical tools to address your priorities
- Improve your work-life integration and balance
- Learn and apply best practices to identify and solve operational problems
- Refine your strategic planning process to push past barriers, grow and scale the business
- Step out of your day-to-day business operations and work 'on' your business

"When you work with Jenny, you not only get her professional coaching, out of the box thinking and positive work style; but you also get her amazing network and match-making skills. Jenny really got me thinking out of old patterns and making new connections."

— Heather Puttock, President, Kickstart Entertainment